

Writing for the World: Issues in Global Neurology

Donald Silberberg

silberbe@mail.med.upenn.edu

Potential Readers

- Neurologists, neurosurgeons, pediatric neurologists, physiatrists, physical therapists, nurses
- Social scientists
- Government, Foundation, other NGO personnel
- Students

Format

- Original Research – will be peer reviewed
- Commentary, Opinion – may be peer reviewed
- Letter to the Editor
- Announcements

Topic

- Multi-national studies of .....
- Cross-cutting issues:
e.g. Relationship between economy and/or environment and the occurrence of neurological disorders
- Critique of published materials

Before Writing

- Do a thorough literature review
  - Avoid unintentional duplication or plagiarism
- Read the journal's instructions to authors
- Review recent publications in that journal
- Prepare to disclose all possible conflicts of interest
- Make it interesting! (try it out on your colleagues)

World Neurology
worldneurologyonline.com

Prior publication in World Neurology (with attribution) does not preclude publication in JNS or other journals
– there are no interfering copyright issues.